Towns and cities - València

From a birds eye view, Cullera reveals itself as an arc formation that embraces the Mediterranean, whilst extending to what is known as the ?Montaña de Cullera? (Cullera Mountain) or the ?Sierra de las Zorras? (The Sierra of the Foxes). Located on the left bank of the river Júcar, this cosmopolitan population has some enviable beaches and an exceptional natural environment with a large fresh-water lagoon, the ?Albufera nature reserve?. The wealth of landscape is completed by a variety of crops, which change the colour of the countryside with each season of the year.
