This golf course enjoys a solid reputation and is one of best-known clubs on the Costa Blanca. Located in an area of natural beauty, with spectacular views over the Mediterranean, it is a carefully designed course that includes hilly terrain with brooks and streams, lush greenery and surrounding pine forests.

The pine trees not only add character to the course, they also make for a more challenging round of golf, as their constant presence can make things difficult when you take your eye off your game.

The course has some magnificent views over the Mediterranean, the air is fresh, and there are plenty of cool shaded areas to ensure a very pleasant and unforgettable round of golf, even in the hottest months of the year. The course has an excellent reputation both in Spain and abroad, and leaves a real impression on players. For a successful round, you need to think twice before every stroke, as rushing shots can be costly.

The talent of the prestigious and hugely imaginative designer José Gancedo is apparent in all the course's details, both big and small.
